RS102 & Thesis: Nine Things to Know

Degrees requiring RS102 or Thesis: ThM & STM

In this document:

- pgs. 1-2 – Nine Things to Know about RS102
- p. 3 – Additional Resources on Writing and Research
- pgs. 4 – “Top 10 Tips for Writing Your Final Project” by Dr. Sandra Glahn
- pg. 5 – Template to Narrow Paper Topic

1. What is the purpose of RS102?

RS102 is a capstone writing project for your program. Writing this paper is an opportunity to explore a research topic you have developed a passion for, before or during your seminary education. This paper is also an evaluative tool designed to measure your ability to accurately and effectively argue a research topic at the graduate level.

2. When should I take RS102?

Plan to take RS102 in your final semester or after satisfactorily completing 90 hours in the ThM. If you take RS101 in your first semester (as we advise), RS101 & RS102 serve as “book-end” courses in your program.

3. What kind of work will I be responsible for when I take RS102?

The only graded assignment for RS102 is a 20-25 page, argumentative research paper. There is no required reading outside of research material for your paper topic, no quizzes or exams, no lectures, and no required class attendance—just the paper.

4. What should I write my RS102 paper on?

In short, it depends on your emphasis. Students are encouraged to discuss their final research paper with their emphasis faculty advisor and other faculty connected with their emphasis. A few questions to consider as you select a topic in your emphasis: (see template on final page)

- Which class(es) did you most enjoy? (Review the required and recommended books for further inquiry)
- What books (chapters, paragraphs, or authors) have most shaped your thinking and spiritual formation?
- What ministry skills do you want to enhance through further research?

5. When should I start thinking about my RS102 topic?

The earlier the better! RS101 teaches you how to research and RS102 or a Thesis gives you a chance to apply your research skills on a particular topic. Once you have an idea of which discipline/topic you intend to explore, you may want to choose elective courses to help you identify and narrow down your topic.

6. Who will serve as my reader/grader for this RS102 paper?

Early in the semester students submit their RS102 paper topic. These topics will be distributed to the appropriate departments and faculty members selected accordingly. Students do not need to request professors to serve as their reader for these papers.

7. What is the difference between a Thesis and RS102?

ThM and STM students can select either RS102 or a Thesis to complete their degree. Below are some key distinctions between the two options:

RS102 – is one semester and students work with one faculty reader (assigned during the course). Students are encouraged to meet with their faculty member at least once during the semester to discuss their paper and gain feedback before submitting the final draft.

Thesis – is a one-year process with two faculty readers. Students can register for the Thesis for two-hours or three-hours. If students intend to do the three-hour thesis, then the extra hour will take the place of one-hour of electives in their emphasis or open electives (if available). For some students, this means they will graduate with additional hours in their degree. Students should plan their elective hours closely with their academic advisor if they intend to write a thesis. (The Student Handbook provides more info about the Thesis in section 1.24)

8. What does the Thesis process look like?

Students can register for a two-hour or three-hour thesis. A two-hour thesis should not exceed 12,000 words, including footnotes but excluding bibliography. A three-hour thesis should not exceed 17,000 words, including footnotes but excluding bibliography. Students will agree upon the deadlines for the thesis during the registration process (see below). The recommended timeline below allows the faculty approximately five weeks to review each draft.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th>Spring Registration</th>
<th>Summer Registration</th>
<th>Fall Registration</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Subject Approval Form</td>
<td>November 1</td>
<td>February 1</td>
<td>April 1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Syllabus</td>
<td>March 15</td>
<td>August 15</td>
<td>September 15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>First Two Chapters</td>
<td>June 15</td>
<td>November 1</td>
<td>February 1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>First Draft</td>
<td>September 15</td>
<td>January 15</td>
<td>May 15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Final Draft</td>
<td>November 15</td>
<td>April 1</td>
<td>July 15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Final Approved Thesis</td>
<td>Due when graduating student course work is due for your semester of completion.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

9. How do I register for a Thesis?

Students can register for the thesis using the Thesis Subject Approval/Registration form. If students select a three-hour thesis, this additional hour will use an elective in their emphasis or open electives (if available). If students plan to do a three-hour thesis, they should work closely with their academic advisor to avoid taking additional hours in their degree.
Additional Resources:

DTS Library Writing Resources – This page includes the DTS Turabian supplement, Word document templates, and other formatting related matters.

University Based Online Writing Labs

- Purdue University Online Writing Lab (OWL) - https://owl.english.purdue.edu/owl
- Excelsior University Online Writing Lab (OWL) - http://owl.excelsior.edu
- Punctuation and Grammar Errors from University of Wisconsin Online Writing Lab (OWL) - http://www.uwc.edu/students/academic-support/owl/punctuation-and-grammar-errors

Online Turabian Citation Creators (Always double-check with DTS supplement guide on citations!)

- Citation Machine - http://www.citationmachine.net
- Citation Software:
  - Zotero – Free platform and step-by-step guide provided in From Topic to Thesis “Appendix E” and on the DTS website: https://library.dts.edu/Pages/RM/Write/zotero.pdf
  - EndNote – Robust citation software but requires students to purchase the software. There is a student discount available. This may be a good investment for long-term research in ministry or doctoral studies but ask other students or professors their experience.

Guidance on Writing from Struck and White *Elements of Style

- Struck and White’s classic work, Elements of Style is available online - http://www.bartleby.com/141

Dr. Sandra Glahn walks students through the Writing Process in the following videos:

1. Schedule (7 minutes)
2. Brainstorm (5 minutes)
3. Outline & Transitions (4 minutes)
4. Review & Polish (21 minutes)
5. Writing Ethically/Q&A (11 minutes)

View the whole presentation from beginning to end here. (49 minutes)
Top 10 Tips for Writing Your Final Project
By Dr. Sandra Glahn (video available here)

1. Figure out what you’re saying and say it clearly. Your subject relates to the best news in the world. So you of all people have something worth saying. Is your proposition clearly stated? Can you back it up? Strive for clarity. If you’re having trouble coming up with a topic, “cluster” related ideas.

2. Outline. In academic work, your structure needs to show. Do you reveal your outline through your central propositions, your headings, your subheadings, and your overall organization?

3. Craft strong transitions. Between sections, you might write, “While X establishes the ABC view, Y suggests otherwise.” Between paragraphs, you might need only a word such as “However,” “Similarly,” or “Nevertheless.” Within paragraphs, short words or phrases also work: Conversely, K says…. And L agrees…. But some think otherwise…. An outstanding reference that offers good phrases for doing this is the thin but expensive book They Say, I Say: The Moves That Matter in Academic Writing.

4. Know that most of writing is rewriting. So go ahead and write a super-crummy first draft. Then go back and clean it up. And clean it up more. And then clean it more.

5. Rely on active voice. Most academic works use too much passive voice, because doing so has the advantage of eliminating the first-person subject. And usually you want to “write yourself out of the story” in academic writing. But avoid overuse, or your writing will, as they say, cure insomnia.

6. Check your spelling. Verify the names of scholars quoted, books cited, and organizations.

7. Check your grammar. The most common grammar error in the English language is mismatching singulars and plurals (i.e., agreement): “If someone smiles, they are probably happy” is wrong. Someone is not a “they.”

8. Check your punctuation. Make sure to follow Turabian as well as the DTS style guide, because punctuation can vary from guide to guide.

9. Follow every quote with a summary or explanation. Never end a paragraph with someone else’s quote. Before moving on, provide a summary or transition statement. This is your argument.

10. “Do unto others….” Loving others well means giving credit where credit is due, recognizing how offended you’d feel if someone tried to pass off your research as his or her own. It’s dishonest to plagiarize, but it’s also completely unloving. Additionally, if you must quote an opinion with which you disagree, represent the author fairly and keep the tone respectful. Ask yourself, “If I were to meet this person for lunch tomorrow, would he or she think I had been just?”

    Part of following the Golden Rule and reaching the widest-possible audience can be using gender-inclusive language. The following statement comes from the syllabus of Dr. Barry Jones in DTS’s Pastoral Ministries Department: “All written submissions should strive to use gender-inclusive language. While this has become standard academic practice, this request is not merely an attempt at ‘political correctness.’ As a gospel-shaped, gospel-centered community of learning, we have compelling reasons to think, write, and speak in such a way as to insure that none are either intentionally or inadvertently excluded by our use of language. Consider using ‘humans,’ ‘persons,’ ‘humanity,’ or ‘humankind’” rather than ‘man’ or ‘men’ when referring to human beings in general. Consider alternating between the use of ‘he’ and ‘she’ as generic pronouns or substituting the use of the plural (‘they,’ ‘them,’ ‘their’) when appropriate.

    You have something worth saying—words of life and healing. So strive to communicate your message well.

Template to Narrow Paper Topic

What is the specific research topic you intend to study?

Why is this topic of special interest to you academically, spiritually, and/or ministerially?

What is your preliminary outline (major points) or thesis?

What are 5-10 sources you have briefly reviewed in preparation for this research?

1.
2.
3.
4.
5.
6.
7.
8.
9.
10.